Three Gujarat websites including government portal made Aadhaar details public

2 Comments

AHMEDABAD: Three official Gujarat websites have been found flouting Aadhaar Act and publicly disclosing Aadhaar numbers of beneficiaries on their websites. Deputy chief minister Nitin Patel, on Sunday, said he was unaware of the issue. The lapse by the Gujarat government websites was recently revealed by the ministry of electronics and information technology. The three errant websites are that of Gujarat government, Director of Developing Caste Welfare of the state and Gujarat University. In these, lists of beneficiaries along with their names, addresses and Aadhaar details have been displayed publicly.

The issue of lax data security practices by government and public websites is currently being hotly discussed across the nation and it has already reached the Parliament, with information about public display of Aadhaar numbers by errant websites tabled in the Parliament on December 29.

Around 200 websites across the country were found publicly displaying Aadhaar details of individuals and were asked to remove such data from public view.

When contacted, deputy chief minister Nitin Patel told TOI, “I am not aware of any such incident of making Aadhar details public. I do not have any information on the issue.”

Social justice and welfare minister, Ishwar Parmar, who is responsible for the affairs of the Developing Caste Welfare of the State, was also unaware of the breach of privacy, like his cabinet colleague. He told TOI, “I have recently assumed charge, so I am not aware of any such breach of privacy through Aadhar data leak.”

Himanshu Pandya, vice-chancellor of Gujarat University, said that he too was unaware of any such data breach and said that he would enquire upon the issue.

Lackadaisical data security practices leading to public display of personal information can easily be misused by fraudsters, say experts, regardless of the fact that such disclosure of Aadhaar numbers is by itself prohibited under Section 29 (4) of the Aadhaar Act 2016, and constitutes breach of confidentiality and data privacy.

Commenting on the matter, advocate of Gujarat high court, Anand Yagnik, said, “Privacy is a fundamental right and public disclosure of this information is violation of privacy.”

I do not understand how giving the aadhar no with name of beneficiaries compromise the data. You can not misuse it in any way. Please educate me if I am wrong

Zuckerberg came up with FB after meeting spiritual guru in India: Piyush Goyal

TNN | Jan 8, 2018, 04.00 AM IST

AHMEDABAD: Union railway minister Piyush Goyal on Sunday participated in a religious and social gathering called ‘Atmiya Yuva Mahotsav’ held by Swaminarayan sect near Telav-Sanand road in Ahmedabad. Goyal claimed that Facebook founder Mark Zuckerberg had come up with the social networking site after meeting a spiritual guru in India.

Goyal claimed that Steve Jobs, founder of Apple, and Zuckerberg, had started their life from the India by taking lessons on spirituality.

“Zukerberg had not completed his study at Harvard University but when he visited Neem Karoli Baba in India, he acquired knowledge and a unique point of view to see the world differently. There was power of spirituality behind it. Only after that he did such a big thing (Facebook),” said Goyal.

The railway minister added, “Spirituality is the biggest and most incredible contribution to the entire world, and I participated in the event because the message of spirituality will begin its travel from this pious land of Gujarat. It is spirituality which has kept the country united and made India a symbol of brotherhood in the entire world.”

The event was held to commemorate the 84th birthday of Hariprasad Swamiji of the sect.

International Kite Festival: Kites soar in the air, chaos reigns on the ground

TNN | Jan 8, 2018, 04.00 AM IST

AHMEDABAD: On Sunday, commuters were sucked into a soul-sapping traffic mayhem. For hours, visitors to the Flower Show and the International Kite Festival on the riverfront were caught in a snarled, honking mass. That clearly demonstrated the fact that the Ahmedabad traffic police, entrusted with the task of mitigating traffic jams, was acting as a catalyst to intensify them. Traffic lights, had they been allowed to operate, could have done a better job!

Thousands who drove to the west bank road of the Sabarmati Riverfront were stuck in jams. The traffic then spilled onto the Ashram Road and connecting peripheral roads. A number of GSRTC buses were stuck on the stretch between Geeta Mandir and Paldi. The traffic woes only eased in the night.

Majid Shaikh, a resident of Paldi, said that he had to wait for nearly 40 minutes on the Sabarmati Riverfront to get to the closest exit. “It is great that events such as the Flower Show and the Kite Festival are organized, but time and again roads are flooded with vehicles. I was with my family and regretted venturing out,” he said.

➤ Shastrinagar-Pragatingar	10.7m	4,850	11,571
➤ CG Road	7.2 m	5,000	7,751
➤ Paldi-Ellisbridge	8.75m	4,700	8,369
➤ Nehru Bridge-TOI	8.85m	4,578	8,967

*PCU : Passenger Car Units is a metric used to assess traffic-flow rate on a road

The traffic also rattled those going to the VS Hospital. “My friend was admitted to the hospital after an accident and we had started off near the Deaf-Mute School on the Ashram Road,” said Abhishek Chauhan, a resident of Usmanpura. “To cross the stretch of about 1.5km, it took me over an hour. I could not even go to any peripheral road. I also saw two ambulances stuck near the hospital though commuters tried to give way.”

Neerja Gotru, JCP (traffic), told TOI that the jams are expected to continue for the next few days. “Congestion was caused by events on the Sabarmati Riverfront,” she said.

“Traffic police personnel have been deployed on the roads to clear as much traffic as possible. Keeping in mind the days to come, more personnel will be deployed,” she said.

Roads reeling under flood of vehicles

TNN | Jan 8, 2018, 04.00 AM IST

AHMEDABAD: Our city roads are being overburdened by vehicles at the rate of 12% to 15% every year with new vehicles added to the already worsening situation of our city's arterial lifelines.

A recent study by department of civil engineering of L D College, and KSV University, had evaluated traffic congestion at six important intersections in Ahmedabad. An important parameter they had measured during research was the peak saturation flow of traffic — a study which describes the number of passenger car units (pcu) in a dense flow of traffic for a specific intersection lane group — at these junctions.

The study found that if the observed capacity of a road like Manav Mandir to Gurukul was 4,400 PCUs per hour in one direction, the peak saturation flow on this stretch increased to 10,565 PCUs.

In another case for CG Road, if the observed capacity was 5,000 PCUs, the peak saturation flow was calculated to be 7,751 PCUs. Similarly for the Paldi-Ellisbridge stretch if the observed capacity is 4,700 PCUs per hour, the peak saturation flow was calculated to be 8,369 PCUs per hour. The study clearly shows how each road hits a PCU beyond its maximum carrying capacity during peak hours leading to frequent traffic jams.

A senior professor at Cept University had told TOI earlier, “When it comes to cities, land availability to each citizen gets smaller. In US and European cities, each citizen gets 3-4 square metres of space, while in Ahmedabad it is 0.8 to 0.9 square metres per citizen. The senior professor added that in case of Indian cities it was vital to promote public transport.
